EVALUATION RECOMMENDATION(S) AND PROPOSED ACTION POINT(S)

Recommendation No. 1	Clarifying the role of UNFPA and its strategic orientations on HIV	Priority: High
	While the UNAIDS 2018 Division of Labour helps to guide UNFPA interventions, it cannot replace a clear statement from UNFPA senior management regarding the roles and responsibilities of the organization in the HIV response. UNFPA, as a matter of organizational priority, should develop and adopt a strategy for its support to the HIV response, including matching human and financial resources, setting priorities, and accommodating the flexible application of the business model. It should be supported by a theory of change detailing the role of UNFPA at global, regional and national levels, aligning UNFPA responsibilities as a UNAIDS Cosponsor with UNFPA core mandate areas, and seeking synergies between UNFPA HIV programming and other internal strategies and programmes, in support of the transformative results of UNFPA strategic plan 2018-2021. Operational requirements <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Develop a UNFPA HIV strategy and associated implementation plan, building on the UNFPA HIV draft framework of 2017, under UNFPA technical and executive leadership</li> </ul>

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Develop an agreed theory of change for UNFPA support to the HIV response, which is consistent with UNFPA strategic plan 2018-2021 and its role as a UNAIDS Cosponsor</li> <li>• Ensure the implementation plan includes a monitoring framework on UNFPA leadership (with a focus on prevention and integration in HIV programming) and adequate human resources and programming budgets</li> <li>• Mainstream the HIV strategy in the implementation of other UNFPA programming, such as, but not limited to: Essential Package of SRHR interventions, the Youth Strategy, the GBV Strategy, Humanitarian Response, etc.</li> </ul> Directed to: UNFPA Technical Division (SRH Branch), Resource Mobilization Branch, Policy and Strategy Division, regional offices, Office of the Executive Director

Management Response to Recommendation acceptance status	Accepted
--	-----------------

If recommendation is partially accepted or rejected, provide reasons:	UNFPA agrees in principle that interagency documents do not replace endorsed internal strategic directives, monitoring frameworks, theories of change and requisite human and financial resources. This is recognized in progress made, for example, through ESARO's 4th transformative result on zero new HIV infections in the context of the current strategic plan and through the HIV detail in EECARO's regional plan. Moving forward, UNFPA's contribution to the HIV response will continue to follow a human rights- and people-centered approach. Ensuring resilience and sustainability of the HIV response require a linked and integrated approach across themes and other UNFPA strategy documents including SRHR as an essential element of UHC, and current tools for programming as well as aligned to the UNAIDS Global Strategy under development. There were 1.7 million new infections in 2019. While substantial decreases were seen in eastern and southern Africa (38% reduction since 2010), infections have increased by 72% in eastern Europe and central Asia, by 22% in the Middle East and North Africa and by 21% in Latin America - HIV remains a public health threat. Globally, 62% of new infections were among key populations and their partners and as high as 99% for regions outside of sub-Saharan Africa. As it develops its new Strategic Plan 2022-2025 and associated monitoring frameworks, UNFPA will be working to ensure that HIV, programming, prioritization and targets as part of comprehensive SRHR are appropriately reflected.

EVALUATION RECOMMENDATION(S) AND PROPOSED ACTION POINT(S)

Recommendation No. 2	Meeting the needs of those left behind and promoting their rights	Priority: High/Medium
	UNFPA needs to take steps to close the gap between rhetoric and action regarding its human rights-based approaches in SRHR. To this end, it should develop tools for operationalizing the UNFPA commitment to rights in different technical areas, including in contributing to the HIV response. This should include explicit programming tools placing the promotion of rights, including the rights of AGYW, KPs and other vulnerable groups, as a core strategic pillar of UNFPA work in support of the HIV response. It should also include efforts to promote rights literacy among UNFPA staff, service providers and communities. Finally, it should strengthen accountability mechanisms or other components related to the identification (and follow-up) of potential violations of rights, especially in relation to access to quality SRHR services. Operational requirements: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Ensure support to the HIV response incorporates and builds on elements of the UNFPA/WHO policy and guidelines on a human rights-based approach</li> </ul>

This could include new indicators designed to capture UNFPA efforts to support rights-based HIV and integration programming</li> <li>• Strengthen lessons learned and sharing of best practices, including through South-South cooperation, for advancing rights in the context of HIV across UNFPA regional and country offices and other technical units, as well as by host governments and implementing partners.</li> </ul> Directed to: Technical Division (SRH Branch, GHR Branch), PSD, regional offices, country offices

Management Response to Recommendation acceptance status Partially Accepted	Partially Accepted
--	--------------------

If recommendation is partially accepted or rejected, provide reasons:	Across the global response to HIV there is concurrence of a need for stronger focus and targets on social and structural determinants of the epidemic, and action to promote human rights and address inequalities. Work in this respect is already in process with a push to accelerate. The evaluation notes in its main findings “UNFPA has directed considerable effort towards promoting the rights of the most vulnerable, including adolescent girls and young women (AGYW), other young people at risk and KPs” and there are examples of country programming with a strong human rights foundation over the past decade. UNFPA concurs that support should build on different related HRBA guidelines, including the Human Rights Council Technical Guidance on HRBA to maternal health; and the UNFPA/WHO guide on HRBA to contraceptive service delivery (referenced above). Inclusion of metrics within the next Strategic Plan will also be important (Cross reference action points 1.2 and 1.3).

EVALUATION RECOMMENDATION(S) AND PROPOSED ACTION POINT(S)

Recommendation No. 3	Linking and integrating SRHR/HIV/SGBV	Priority: High
	Linking and integrating SRHR/HIV/SGBV services is key to an effective and sustainable national response to HIV. There is a need for UNFPA to build on lessons learned from the experiences in EECA, ESA and other regions, as well as from the ECHO trial results, in order to develop and strengthen guidance to regional and country offices on piloting and scaling linkages and integration at national level. This guidance should take stock of the diversity of contexts in which UNFPA operates, and should be communicated across all regional and country offices. The intent is to ensure that UNFPA maintains strong leadership on linkages and integration, and that country offices can be effective in supporting related programmatic actions at country level, with regional offices providing the advocacy and technical support as needed. Operational requirements: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● Emphasize the role of linkages and integration in the chain of effects in the UNFPA strategy for supporting the HIV response (and its accompanying theory of change)</li> <li>● Strengthen South-South cooperation to accelerate SRHR/HIV/SGBV linkages and integration, support operational lessons learned at regional and country office levels, and inform global advocacy</li> </ul>

This includes defining the UNFPA role at country level in support of programming, in particular throughout the new three-year Global Fund cycle.</li> <li>Strengthen the leadership role for regional offices (particularly those without HIV-dedicated staff) to ensure that support to the HIV response at country level includes needs identification, advocacy, and piloting and scaling linkages, and integration.</li> </ul> Directed to: Technical Division (SRH Branch, GHR Branch), Resource Mobilization Branch, regional offices, country offices

EVALUATION RECOMMENDATION(S) AND PROPOSED ACTION POINT(S)

Recommendation No. 4	Asserting leadership in comprehensive condom programming	Priority: High
	UNFPA should continue to assert the critical importance of CCP, as doing so realizes the role of UNFPA in championing triple protection (prevention of HIV, other STIs and unintended pregnancies). This should include providing support to condom programming (male and female condoms and lubricants) that is comprehensive and covers both supply and demand. Important elements of a comprehensive approach should include, in particular, further integration of condom programming into UNFPA support to family planning programmes. It should extend to strengthening supply chains (including in countries that do not currently benefit from the UNFPA Supplies Programme) and bolstering demand creation, especially among young people. A comprehensive approach to condom programming should also foresee the reinforcement of public-private-people partnerships for increasing access to and uptake of the use of condoms and lubricants. Operational Requirements: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● Bolster advocacy and technical support at global, regional and national levels for strengthened condom programming, including supply, demand and stewardship, as a key element in HIV prevention and as an essential part of SRHR</li> <li>● Further integrate condom programming within family planning programmes and services</li> <li>● Reinforce and extend cooperation between the SRH Branch, the Procurement Services Branch, the Commodity Security Branch (and the UNFPA Supplies Programme), to provide support to those countries that do not participate in the Supplies Programme</li> </ul> Directed to: UNFPA Technical Division (SRH Branch, CS Branch), regional offices, country offices
Management Response to Recommendation acceptance status	Partially Accepted
If recommendation is partially accepted or rejected, provide reasons:	There is concurrence on the need to strengthen ongoing work, there is also a need to acknowledge the established and ongoing work on CCP within UNFPA which requires amplification and expansion. UNFPA is invigorating the condom IATT with representation from civil society, governments, private sector, UNFPA country and regional representatives and other UN agencies to programme condoms as triple protection methods (HIV, STIs, unintended pregnancy). Technical experts from HIV, FP and STIs will collaborate to frame the modular frameworks for triple protection, within the comprehensive SRHR package with emphasis on positioning male and female condoms as effective contraceptives in FP settings and as the only protective barrier methods against STIs. Work will build on the previous results, tools and partnerships including Africa Beyond Condom Donation coalition, the newly WHO approved specifications for production of lubricants, the condom need estimate and costing tool, as well as ongoing capacity strengthening of service providers and country teams in providing assistance on CCP.

Recommendation No. 5	Forging partnerships and supporting networks	Priority: High
	UNFPA should increase support to the development of the community of regional and national networks by allocating and leveraging resources to strengthen the capacity of CSOs (particularly those catering for or led by KPs, adolescent girls and young people) to engage effectively in policy dialogue, and to access funding from national and international sources. UNFPA should also promote linkages between global, regional and national networks for advocacy and engagement of KPs, AGYW and other young people. ## EVALUATION RECOMMENDATION(S) AND PROPOSED ACTION POINT(S)

[List all recommendations below as they appear in the Evaluation Report]

Recommendation No. 6	Coordination and sustainability	Priority: High/Medium
	UNFPA should take action to address risks to the sustainability of the HIV response as part of its role as a UNAIDS Cosponsor participating in the Joint Programme at global, regional and country levels. UNFPA should also advocate and collaborate with other development partners to promote sustainable HIV programming, including transitioning from external funding and integrating HIV into national and sector development programmes. It should advocate for increased emphasis on prevention within HIV responses under national stewardship and support national strategies and plans for incorporation of the essential package of SRHR interventions, including on HIV/STIs, into universal health coverage mechanisms. UNFPA should also consider technical assistance to national authorities developing proposals for external funding for the HIV response and ensure that the support to capacity development of health care providers for family planning and other SRHR services does incorporate rights-based HIV prevention, testing and links to treatment. Operational Requirements <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● Increase efforts for sharing lessons learned in effective sustainability strategies at national level</li> <li>● Develop regional and country offices' capacity in assessing the cost efficiency of HIV prevention and testing and links to treatment interventions</li> <li>● Collaborate with WHO on efforts to move toward UHC and address the implications of this for the HIV response, including in the context of the SRHR essential package</li> </ul>

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Emphasize efficiency gains resulting from linkages and integration of SRHR/HIV/SGBV programmes and services.</li> </ul> Directed to: Technical Division, regional and country offices
