

A key partner for advancing sexual and reproductive health in the Pacific

In the Pacific, Australia plays a pivotal role in supporting the expansion of quality sexual and reproductive health services, with a strong focus on family planning. Australia champions the Asia Pacific Regional Prepositioning Initiative, enhancing preparedness and resilience in the face of humanitarian emergencies.

© UNFPA Afghanistan

UNFPA and Australia

A partnership for women and girls

Thanks to UNFPA's strong partnership with Australia, more women and girls around the world are enjoying healthier, more fulfilled lives free from violence.

See how Australia is making a difference.

About UNFPA

UNFPA, the United Nations Population Fund, is the sexual and reproductive health agency of the UN. It works to uphold the rights and choices of women, girls and young people across more than 150 countries. UNFPA aims to ensure that every pregnancy is wanted, every childbirth is safe, and every young person can fulfil their potential. It also helps governments plan for changing demographics, to build inclusive and resilient societies.

All UNFPA funding is voluntary – we rely on governments and other partners to support our programmes.

Read more about Australia and UNFPA engagement on UNFPA's website:

© UNFPA Philippines/Shirin Bhandari

Our partnership

Promoting rights and choices for all

Australia has been a generous and long-standing partner of UNFPA, providing both core resources and co-financing support to UNFPA programmes. Through flexible core support, Australia ensures we are able to promote international norms, deliver essential programmes, develop policy and advocacy, and provide technical expertise more efficiently.

A trusted partner in crisis

Australia provides vital humanitarian support across the Indo-Pacific, Asia, and the Middle East, ensuring access to life-saving sexual and reproductive health services and critical supplies to prevent and respond to gender-based violence in disaster-affected communities.

Results for resources in 2025

1,600

Maternal deaths averted

1,728,900

Women and young people reached with integrated sexual and reproductive health services

703,400

Unintended pregnancies prevented

213,400

Sexually transmitted infections prevented by provision of female and male condoms

215,600

Unsafe abortions prevented

3,044,600

Individuals and their partners provided with a full year of contraceptive protection

481,000

Marginalized girls reached by life skills programmes

600

Women and girls living with obstetric fistula received treatment

4,900

HIV infections prevented by providing female and male condoms

10,700

Girls saved from female genital mutilation

Key results are illustrative only and reflect a calculation based on the donor's total contribution proportionally to UNFPA's overall results. While a selection of results are included, the support from our partners enables UNFPA to uphold the rights and choices of women, girls and young people across more than 150 countries, meet immediate needs, pursue promising innovations, bridge funding gaps and seed broader investments.