

Championing youth, choice and access

Denmark champions youth participation in development and humanitarian efforts, recognizing their pivotal role in shaping a more equitable future. Denmark is also a key partner to UNFPA in empowering youth and promoting menstrual health, essential for improving well-being and education outcomes. The UNFPA Supplies Partnership is the world's largest provider of donated contraceptives, enhancing health systems, improving supply chains, and expanding access to contraceptives and maternal health medicines. Denmark has been a steadfast supporter of this initiative, promoting family planning through improved agency, choice, and access.

About UNFPA

UNFPA, the United Nations Population Fund, is the sexual and reproductive health agency of the UN. It works to uphold the rights and choices of women, girls and young people across more than 150 countries. UNFPA aims to ensure that every pregnancy is wanted, every childbirth is safe, and every young person can fulfil their potential. It also helps governments plan for changing demographics, to build inclusive and resilient societies.

All UNFPA funding is voluntary – we rely on governments and other partners to support our programmes.

Our partnership

Strategic collaboration for impact

Denmark has been a leading donor to UNFPA for many years. The prioritization of flexible core funding means UNFPA is able to plan ahead, respond quickly to crises, and uphold its global normative mandate as a champion of sexual and reproductive health and rights. This includes preventing and responding to gender-based violence, providing maternal and neonatal assistance, addressing obstetric fistula, improving maternal health care and ensuring access to essential sexual and reproductive health services for adolescent girls.

Allies amid adversity

During crises, women and girls face immense challenges. In 2025, Denmark reaffirmed its longstanding support for vulnerable women and girls in countries including Ukraine, Ethiopia and Sudan. Through its contributions, UNFPA was able to deliver life-saving humanitarian aid to those who need it most. This generous support demonstrates Denmark's commitment to promoting resilience and providing sexual and reproductive health and gender-based violence services to women and girls worldwide.
