

A global force for health and gender equality

As one of UNFPA's key donors, the Republic of Korea is an essential partner supporting UNFPA's work towards pursuing our three transformative results: ending preventable maternal deaths, meeting the unmet need for family planning, and ending gender-based violence and harmful practices. With support from the Republic of Korea, UNFPA also delivers critical data systems and demographic analysis that enable countries to respond effectively to population trends, ageing, youth dynamics, and changing fertility patterns.

The Republic of Korea's funding makes a difference

The Republic of Korea's contributions enable UNFPA to respond to gender-based violence in crisis-affected communities and ensure sexual and reproductive health services reach those who need it most, leaving no one behind.

© UNFPA Myanmar

UNFPA and the Republic of Korea

About UNFPA

UNFPA, the United Nations Population Fund, is the sexual and reproductive health agency of the UN. It works to uphold the rights and choices of women, girls and young people across more than 150 countries. UNFPA aims to ensure that every pregnancy is wanted, every childbirth is safe, and every young person can fulfil their potential. It also helps governments plan for changing demographics, to build inclusive and resilient societies.

All UNFPA funding is voluntary – we rely on governments and other partners to support our programmes.

Read more about the Republic of Korea and UNFPA engagement on UNFPA's website:

A partnership for women and girls

Thanks to UNFPA's strong partnership with the Republic of Korea, more women and girls around the world are enjoying healthier, more fulfilled lives, free from violence.

See how the Republic of Korea is making a difference.

© UNFPA Indonesia/Eka Nickmatulhuda

© UNFPA Philippines/Mark Sambajon

© UNFPA Bangladesh/Peter Rozario

© UNFPA Mozambique/Mbuto Machiti

Our partnership

An ally for sexual and reproductive health and rights and ending gender-based violence

The Republic of Korea is a committed partner in efforts to provide integrated and life-saving sexual and reproductive health services and to prevent and respond to gender-based violence, particularly for women and girls in vulnerable and humanitarian settings. Korea's partnership contributes to addressing the immediate consequences and root causes of violence, including harmful gender norms and unequal access to essential health services. Together, these efforts foster safer, more resilient and peaceful communities where women and girls can exercise their rights and fulfil their potential.

The Korea International Cooperation Agency (KOICA) has committed to fund $32.7 million (from Sept. 2024 - Dec. 2027) for the "Conflict and Fragility Programme", which provides interventions that change and save lives across six countries in Africa and the Middle East.

Results for resources in 2025

900

Maternal deaths averted

944,900

Women and young people reached with integrated sexual and reproductive health services

384,400

Unintended pregnancies prevented

116,600

Sexually transmitted infections prevented by provision of female and male condoms

117,800

Unsafe abortions prevented

1,663,900

Individuals and their partners provided with a full year of contraceptive protection

262,900

Marginalized girls reached by life skills programmes

2,100

Women and girls living with obstetric fistula received treatment

2,700

HIV infections prevented by providing female and male condoms

5,900

Girls saved from female genital mutilation

Key results are illustrative only and reflect a calculation based on the donor's total contribution proportionally to UNFPA's overall results. While a selection of results are included, the support from our partners enables UNFPA to uphold the rights and choices of women, girls and young people across more than 150 countries, meet immediate needs, pursue promising innovations, bridge funding gaps and seed broader investments.